

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an orally administrable composition for improving skin quality and prevent or restore age-related alterations of skin in humans or animals, which comprises as an active ingredient an effective amount of a molecule that stimulates energy metabolism of the cell or an antioxidant or combinatory admixtures thereof, in an orally acceptable carrier.